Helicopters Bring Fresh Marines Into Fight Near Da Nang

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two fresh companies of U.S. Marines surged from helicopters into a blood-stained valley south of Da Nang Saturday to help several thousand other Marines and South Vietnamese troops close the net on a slippery Viet Cong regiment. Yielding here and there, the foe remained elusive. Contact was reported light though constant in this fourth day of the battle, with the showdown still to come. The maneuvering was so tricky that the allies' supporting warplanes were temporarily grounded.

Far from the contested valley, sharp fighting flared between a task force of Vietnamese regulars and a hard core Viet Cong battalion in the Mekong delta.

Heavy Fire
The Vietnamese ran into machine gun and recoilless rifle fire 35 miles southwest of Saigon, but called in air support and attacked.

A U.S. military spokesman said the battle raged long after dark, with the Viet Cong trying to escape in small units. The troops reported 42 Viet Cong were killed. There was no announcement on Vietnamese losses.

Other government forces completed a drive launched a month ago against guerrillas based northwest of Hue, the old imperial capital barely 50 miles from Communist North Viet Nam's frontier. The troops reported they killed 140 Viet Cong, captured 20 and seized 49 weapons.

Bad weather limited air operations over North Viet Nam. The U.S. Air Force sent up none of its long-range squadrons. However, Navy planes from the carriers Kitty Hawk and Bon Homme Richard loosed 34 tons of bombs on bridges, roads, truck convoys and storage areas about 20 miles north of the border.

Buddhist Charge
A potential strain on American-Vietnamese relations showed up in a charge by Buddhists that a U.S. Marine had beheaded a golden Buddha and scattered venerated objects about their Khue Bac pagoda in the air base city of Da Nang Dec. 3.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge sought to smooth over the incident. He is known to have told the Buddhist hierarchy, a powerful element in some of South Viet Nam's political upheavals, that he will look into the matter immediately and, regardless of whether an American was involved, the United States will pay for the damage.

That might mean building a new pagoda, for monks consider the old one now contaminated. Five hundred Buddhists paraded through Da Nang Wednesday with banners calling on U.S. forces to respect Buddhist property and asking for punishment of the culprit.

Among war wounded at Da Nang was Col. Mike Yuncak, 46, of Santa Ana, Calif., a decorated Marine ace of World War II.

Operations officer of the 1st Marine Air Wing, he underwent surgery Friday for removal of his left leg below the knee after being shot in his helicopter in the Allied-Viet Cong valley battle.

"I'll make it," Yuncak said. He gave a television crew of the National Broadcasting Company permission to film the entire operation at a field hospital.

The battle apparently involved even more men than the week-long engagement between North Vietnamese regulars and U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division battalions in the Ia Drang Valley of the central highlands last month.

A Marine officer estimated 3,700 Viet Cong were in the area. Both the Marines and Viet Nam's army have committed several battalions. A Marine battalion ranges to 1,200 men or more. The Vietnamese battalion is smaller, perhaps 500 men.

Official secrecy screened the posture and condition of the Vietnamese troops, but a U.S. spokesman said survivors of a Ranger battalion hard hit in the opening fight Wednesday have been relieved. Based in the north end of the valley, the Vietnamese might be the key element in a nutcracker operation.

Among operations farther inland, the 2nd battalion of the U.S. 502nd Airborne Regiment probed a rubber plantation on the edge of the Viet Cong's iron triangle 25 miles north of Saigon.

Hanoi Deals Peace Hopes Sharp Jolt

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. hopes for some new approach to peace in Viet Nam got a sharp jolt Saturday as officials studied the latest political move by North Viet Nam.

The North Vietnamese have published the text of the message directed to them last May by Secretary of State Dean Rusk to give notice of the pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam and urge a responsive peaceful gesture on the part of the Hanoi regime.

In a broadcast from Hanoi Friday North Viet Nam called this and other U.S. peace probes "deceitful, insolent, and arrogant" and said its charge is supported by the full text of the Rusk message.

"The Hanoi broadcast," a department spokesman said, "reaffirms without the slightest ambiguity its rejection of the May pause and its insistence on the Pham Van Dong (North Vietnamese premier) four points as the only basis for negotiations and peace."

LBJ Resting Before Return To Capital

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson turned away from official chores Saturday to get in all the rest possible before returning to Washington and a busy schedule with foreign visitors.

Johnson, who arrived at his ranch near Johnson City Nov. 19 to continue recuperation from his Oct. 8 surgery, plans to leave late Sunday for the capital.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson, in addition to preparing for visits by President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, and Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany, still has some serious work to do on the budget and other administration matters.

In reply to questions about Johnson's health, Moyers said his recovery from the gall bladder-Kidney stone operation is progressing as expected.

Some Discomfort
Johnson still suffers some discomfort, he reported, especially when he makes a sudden turn or sits in one position for very long.

Asked about the President's spirits, Moyers said with a smile: "I would say he is back in his old form."

Moyers reported Johnson has received a good many letters from gall bladder patients, some of them expressing surprise that the chief executive has done as well as he has.

He said one man wrote that it took him six months to get back in trim. Johnson told newsmen earlier this week that he was getting stronger day by day and expects to be back at "normal operating strength" by the first of the year.

Moyers told newsmen at White House press headquarters in Austin that aside from some paperwork Saturday, the President was resting and relaxing — walking and riding around his ranch.

In addition to Johnson's health, there was other news on the physical fitness front.

Moyers released a presidential statement announcing that about a million of the nation's school-children will be honored next year for physical fitness.

The top 15 per cent of all children taking the physical achievement test of the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation will receive presidential fitness awards — a certificate bearing Johnson's name.

"It is essential that our young people develop their physical capabilities as well as their mental skills," Johnson said.

"Sports and other forms of active play promote good health and help provide our country with sturdy young citizens equal to the challenge of the future."

Stan Musial, the President's consultant on physical fitness, said:

"I really think this will help solve the incentive problem which always has been one of the major obstacles in promoting regular exercise."

Gemini 6 Crew Set For Launch

Review Flight Plans

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) Gemini 6 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr., and Thomas P. Stafford reviewed the complex flight plan Saturday that calls for them to chase Gemini 7 across the sky for 103,000 miles Sunday before catching up.

Navy Capt. Schirra and Air Force Maj. Stafford are to ride a Titan 2 rocket skyward at 9:54 a.m. EST to start the pursuit.

May See Launch
At the moment of launching, the Gemini 7 astronauts, Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., will be zipping over Cape Kennedy near the end of their eighth day in space.

They hope to be able to spot and perhaps photograph the Gemini 6 blaster.

The Titan 2 will burn for six minutes to insert Gemini 6 into an orbit ranging from 100 to 168 miles high. By then, Gemini 7 will be 1,208 miles ahead, in a circular orbit 185 miles high. Both are traveling about 17,500 miles an hour in the same orbital plane.

Because Schirra and Stafford are in a lower orbit, they require less time to make a global circuit and gradually gain on Gemini 7 at the rate of about 500 miles during each 96-minute orbit.

Precise Maneuvers
After one hour 35 minutes of flight, near the end of the first orbit over the Gulf of Mexico, command pilot Schirra fires jet thrusters briefly to adjust the Gemini 6 apogee — high point — so it is precisely 17 miles below that of Gemini 7. Borman and Lovell are 690 miles ahead.

After two hours 19 minutes, at second orbit apogee over the Indian Ocean, Schirra fires the jets to increase the speed of Gemini 6 by 36 miles an hour. This raises the Gemini perigee — low point — from 100 to 135 miles and changes the catchup rate to about 230 miles an orbit. Gemini 7 is about 480 miles ahead.

After three hours and 49 minutes, at third orbit apogee over the Indian Ocean, Schirra again increases the speed by 36 miles an hour and raises the perigee from 134 miles up to 168 miles, matching the apogee and making the orbit a perfect circle. The catchup rate now is 150 miles an orbit.

At this point, Stafford activates a radar system to lock onto a radar beacon in Gemini 7 which is 161 miles ahead, traveling backward in space so its nose points at the chase craft.

Final Sprint
At exactly five hours into the flight, over Brazil at the start of Orbit No. 4, Schirra begins a terminal phase to close in on Gemini 7 by increasing his speed by 23 miles an hour. Gemini 6 is 17 miles below and 39 miles slant range behind Gemini 7 and begins ascending toward the orbit of the target.

Up to now, tracking and control of the flight has been directed from mission control center in Houston. Ground controllers have kept the Gemini 6 astronauts informed of the Gemini 7 whereabouts and calculated firing rates if there has been a deviation in the orbit of either satellite.

For the terminal phase, Schirra and Stafford use their radar, computer and optical aids to effect the rendezvous.

During the 39-minute terminal phase, Schirra makes two small course adjustments to refine the approach. At the 27-minute point, Borman and Lovell turn their spacecraft around so both vehicles are flying forward in

Gemini 7 Passes Mid-Point

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Gemini 7 pilot James A. Lovell Jr. sent a light signal to earth Saturday — as the bearded astronaut headed for a world endurance mark, a church service and rendezvous with a sistership—all on a busy Sunday in space.

"I got her," shouted Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman, the command pilot, as he jockeyed the Gemini 7 so Lovell could track the earth light with his own light beam. Both pilots' voices burst with excitement.

Gemini 7 entered its 112th orbit at 12:13 a.m. EST.

Mission control said at 2:45 p.m. EST that there was no attempt to transmit Lovell's voice over the light beam on this first time a light signal has been sent from space to earth.

That attempt apparently will come later.

Mission control said it was as excited as the astronauts had been on the entire flight to date.

"I see a lot of buildings," Borman said. "Looks like antennas around it. Also some smoke on the south side of the hill. I got it. I can see it again. There it is again."

Somerset Maugham In Coma

NICE, France (AP)—W. Somerset Maugham, impatient with life these last few years, lay in a coma Saturday night in a Nice hospital. One doctor said he has only two or three days to live.

A condition report on the 91-year-old novelist, playwright and consummate storyteller said three attending physicians have found "the existence of a neurological syndrome of vascular origin leading to a grave prognosis." In other words, a grave nervous ailment afflicting blood vessels.

Dr. Marcel Guirau, a heart specialist, told newsmen in addition that he believed the condition would lead to death "within two or three days, at maximum."

Maugham was rushed to the British-American Hospital earlier Saturday from his seaside villa down the Mediterranean coast. His doctor said then he was "dangerously ill."

Alan Searle, secretary and long-time companion to the 91-year-old writer, said Maugham was in a coma.

"He hasn't been well for some weeks," Searle said, "and he had rather a bad fall yesterday."

The physician, Dr. Georges Rosanoff, said he could not give a precise diagnosis, but asserted: "He is dangerously ill."

Maugham lives about six miles from here in a white, green-shuttered villa he bought in 1927.

Despite cataracts which prevented him from reading, and increasing deafness which kept him from listening to music, Maugham liked to take daily walks in the spacious garden of his seaside house.

On just such a walk a year ago Maugham fell, but was not seriously injured. Last March the writer was hospitalized briefly for a respiratory ailment.

Maugham, who journeyed worldwide to collect material for his 30 novels, 25 plays and 120 short stories, gave up traveling two years ago because of failing strength.

His widely known works include the novel "Moon and Sixpence" and the short story from which the famous play "Rain" was adopted. One of his novels, "Of Human Bondage," is often considered a classic.

GOP Borrow Demo Fund Raising Idea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taking another leaf from the Democratic book on fund raising, House Republicans announced Saturday night they are putting out a publication on Congress next year and hope to sell ads at $15,000 a page.

The Republicans insisted, however, that their publication will be nonpartisan and may even include pictures of such leading Democrats as House Speaker John W. McCormack.

Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, said in a statement that the publication will be issued sometime next year and will deal with "the operations of the Congress."

Wilson said that not a cent of the money raised by the publication "will be used to assist in the election of any candidate."

The purpose of the book, Wilson said, will be to raise funds to provide staffing for Republican educational and research task forces.

A spokesman on the Republican Congressional Committee said the $15,000-a-page price for ads was what corporations were charged for advertising in the publication, "Toward an Age of Greatness."

Cong's Yule Truce Proposal Appealing

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—There's one merit in the Viet Cong's conditional proposal for a peaceful Christmas Eve in Viet Nam. It's appealing. But that probably is about all it is.

Some U.S. military and diplomatic officials here agree a halt in the fighting would be a fitting way to observe the greatest holiday in Christendom.

They see nothing significant, however, in the Viet Cong's broadcast offer Monday night to halt attacks from 7 p.m. Christmas Eve to 7 a.m. Christmas Day.

Empty Gesture
Most view it as nothing more than a propaganda gesture and certainly not as an indication that the Communists are putting out any kind of peace feeler.

As for a 12-hour cease-fire, practical factors must be weighed.

One is the fact that the Communists have come out with similar declarations in the past — especially for the Vietnamese new year called Tet and on some Buddhist holidays — and the fighting has gone on.

Last Christmas Eve Viet Cong terrorists blew up the Brink Hotel, a U.S. officers' billet in Saigon, killing two Americans and wounding 60.

Another factor is the wording of the Viet Cong announcement. It stipulated that attacks would halt "to allow people on the other side to celebrate Christmas in peace" provided troops carried no weapons and there were "no means of spying."

"Viet Nam is not a place these days where troops wander about without weapons. As for the second qualification, no one seems to know what the wording means about spying."

Truce Difficult
One U.S. military officer pointed out the difficulty of carrying out a brief truce in a mixed-up guerrilla war, where there are no fixed lines and the enemy repeatedly takes advantage of the fact he can melt into the population to pull surprise attacks.

U.S. authorities on the highest level here have found no sign of peace feelers from the Viet Cong or from Hanoi.

Cited in this connection was the interview made public this week with President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam, in which he again laid down his standard conditions for halting the war. These include a withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Viet Nam.

POLICEMEN HURT IN TAVERN BRAWL
CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—A policeman suffered a skull fracture and concussion and another had part of a finger bitten off as they tried to break up a tavern brawl Saturday.

Policeman Bobby Jones, 32, was in satisfactory condition after surgery for the concussion and policeman Jerome Ehram was minus the top of a little finger. Two other officers, John Bryant, 28, and Sgt. Maurice Clark, 40, received minor wounds.

The four officers were attacked when they arrived at the Spotlight Cafe shortly after 2 a.m. to stop a brawl police reported.

Arrested and charged with aggravated battery was Saunders Hillsman, 32, Champaign. Police said they have arrested five others but withheld identification pending charges.

Many Officers See New Plane As Poor Substitute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many Air Force officers agree with Gen. Curtis E. LeMay that the kind of new bomber they are going to get is a poor substitute for the advanced long-range strike air plane their service really wants.

But these officers still are in uniform. So they are not free to criticize openly Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's decision to modify the controversial TFX fighter plane into a bomber.

LeMay is retired and is under no such restraints. In a recent interview with The Associated Press, the former Air Force chief of staff was asked his views on a follow-on bomber to replace the B52 Stratofortress, and about the then-pending proposal to adapt the TFX to a bomber version.

TFX Lacking
"We need an advanced manned strategic aircraft," LeMay said.

"The TFX is not really the solution. It could be used, but it lacks size, range and weight-carrying capacity to do the long-range job."

"We may be caught and have to use this aircraft as a poor substitute, for we are long past the time when we should have started production of a new and advanced system."

In essence, the Air Force will support the McNamara program for a force of 210 FB11 bombers — as the TFX offshoots will be known — because it is a matter of half a loaf being better than none.

McNamara is willing to spend $1.75 billion to adapt the TFX design and build a fleet of FB11 bombers.

But the defense secretary obviously is unwilling, at least so far, to set in motion a from-drawing-board-up advanced manned strategic aircraft — AMSA — that could cost as much as $11.5 billion for 200 planes.

AF Hopeful
The Air Force hopes the FB11 will turn out to be only an interim solution—that eventually McNamara and President Johnson will come around to accepting Air Force views.

Qualified approval of the new program came from some congressional critics of McNamara's plans to scale down the over-all bomber force — now slated to go from 680 to 565 planes — but sentiment for a brand-new strategic aircraft clearly remains strong on Capitol Hill.

The first FB11 is scheduled to be combat-ready in 1969. This suggests the modifications from the fighter design will be relatively limited.

From available information, it appears the bomber version will have a slightly longer fuselage than the fighter; a somewhat greater wing span and a heavier landing gear; will be equipped with extra fuel tanks to extend its range; will carry most of its 50 high-explosive bombs, weighing a total of 37,500 pounds, under its wings.

The FB11 probably will be equipped with a new relatively short-range missile which the Pentagon has started developing.

This SCRAM, with a range of between 50 and 100 miles, would be carried by an attacking airplane inside the anti-aircraft defenses of an enemy's borders and would be fired at key targets with accuracy measured within a few feet.

KEOKUK EXPLOSION BENEFIT FUND REACHES $30,000

KEOKUK, Iowa (AP) — A benefit fund built on contributions from across the nation for the victims of the Thanksgiving Eve explosion and fire here totaled $30,000 Saturday, and more money was on the way.

Don Reynolds of the Keokuk Chamber of Commerce, clearing house for contributions, said the money would not be distributed for at least 90 days pending incorporation of the Swing Ezy Benefit Fund.

The disaster at the National Guard Armory occurred during a square dance being held by the Swing Ezy Square Dance Club.

It claimed its 18th victim Friday night, Mrs. Jay Joy, 33, of Keokuk. Her husband was reported in critical condition at the Brooks Army Medical Center in San Antonio, Tex.

The tragedy left 17 children with only one parent, and eight as orphans.

A benefit dance was scheduled Saturday night at the Memorial Auditorium in Burlington, Iowa.

The top level of the administration, which must approve all targets, so far has held off but U.S. planes have struck a first blow toward cutting the capital off from Haiphong by hitting a railway bridge directly linking the cities.

10 Traffic Mishaps Are Recorded Friday

A near-record of ten traffic accidents were recorded on Jacksonville streets and state and county highways in Morgan and Scott counties Friday.

None of the persons involved in the accidents, eight of which occurred after noon, were seriously injured. One person was taken to a hospital for treatment of injuries, and was later released.

City, state and county law enforcement officers blamed the wet streets and highways as one of the major factors involved in several of the collisions.

Two vehicles were extensively damaged about ten o'clock Friday night on West Morton in front of Tops Big Boy restaurant.

City police reported that a car, driven by Charles T. Raleigh of 801 North Diamond, left the drive at the restaurant, eastbound on Morton in the wrong lane of traffic.

Raleigh's auto sideswiped a westbound car, operated by Robert D. Kleinmann of Pocatontas, Ill.

Raleigh was cited for improper lane usage.

City authorities reported a two-car accident at 6:27 p.m. at the junction of U.S. 36-54 and Ill. 104 involving an east bound car driven by Mary H. Pennell of Winchester and a westbound auto, operated by Erma F. Hannel of Raymond.

Officers reported that the Pennell auto pulled in front of the Hannel vehicle.

Persons in three vehicles escaped injury about 5:30 p.m.

in a collision at the junction of Ill. 106 and U.S. 36-54 at the west edge of Winchester Friday.

Investigating state police noted that a westbound pick-up truck, operated by Andrew H. Sauer, 15, of Winchester slowed to make a left turn onto Ill. 106.

Sauer's truck was hit from the rear by a car, driven by Betty Smith, 17, of route one, Hillview. A second westbound car, driven by Harold F. Kreimeyer, 39, of Beaver, Mo. struck the rear of the Smith auto.

Officers reported that the pavement was extremely slick at the time of the incident.

About 3:45 p.m., two autos were damaged in an accident at the Park street and West College avenue intersection.

Police cited Mrs. Jeanne Baumann of 1122 West State for failure to yield the right-of-way after her northbound car on Park, pulled into the westbound lane, striking a car, operated by Gordon R. Brown of 118 City Place.

Shortly before two o'clock Friday afternoon, officers were notified of a two-car mishap at the intersection of West Morgan and South Church.

After investigating, officers cited the driver of a westbound auto on Morgan, Edwin H. Deitrick of 14 Westgate Circle, for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Deitrick's car struck a car northbound on South Church driven by Jerry A. Tolbird of 1124 West Walnut.

A passenger in one auto complained of facial abrasions, but did not seek immediate treatment, following a crash at the corner of West Morgan and South West streets about 12:30 p.m.

Police said that Barbara Arnold of Bluffs, a passenger in a westbound auto, driven by Linda L. Gibbins of Roodhouse, complained of a bruised hip.

Miss Gibbins was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way after her auto struck a southbound car driven by Steve L. Jordan of 1210 Lincoln.

Two cars were heavily damaged following a collision at the intersection of West College and Westminster about three o'clock Friday afternoon.

Officers noted that a southbound car on Westminster, operated by Robeteen Mawson, 61, of 426 Caldwell, pulled into the path of a westbound auto, driven by Howard P. Starr of 6 Southdale Drive.

Miss Mawson was taken to Passavant hospital following the accident, where she received emergency treatment, and was later released.

Miss Mawson was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way. State police reported no injuries following a two-vehicle collision at the Exeter bridge, west of town about 1:20 p.m. Friday.

Officers said that a westbound truck, driven by Edward W. Hall, 35, of Springfield, tried to stop for an oncoming car, driven by Jerry L. Rife, 29, of Bluffs.

Hall told patrolmen that his National Biscuit Company truck slid onto the bridge and struck the car.

One driver was ticketed by state authorities as a result of a two-vehicle accident at the intersection of U.S. 67 and Lake Jacksonville road about 11:35 a.m. Friday.

State police noted that a westbound pick-up truck on the lake road, driven by Raymond E. Bourn, 76, of 1619 South Main, pulled onto the highway into the path of a southbound car, driven by Arvel R. Pendland, 49, of Manito.

Both vehicles were extensively damaged.

About 8:30 a.m. Friday, a westbound auto on the Old State Road, driven by Cora A. Hoffman, 38, of Lincoln went out of control and slid into a ditch and overturned.

No injuries were reported by officers, but the 1966 model car was demolished.

The incident occurred about one mile east of Ill. 123.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market last week weathered the shock of a raise in interest rates combined with the spectacle of the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board standing up against President Lyndon B. Johnson.

A stampede of emotional selling on Monday morning was the immediate reaction to the rise in the discount rate to 4½ per cent from 4 per cent, despite statements the previous week from the President, secretary of the treasury and others that higher rates were not necessary.

In the past, the market has taken discount rate boosts with only momentary hesitation and then gone on to continue the major trend. This time it was different. The Dow Jones industrial average plunged 17.60 in the first hour on record first-hour volume of 3.94 million shares. Even the high-speed ticker, newly installed, ran 13 minutes late.

Analysts stated that it wasn't so much that the rate had been advanced as the surprise timing of the news, plus the picture of FRB Chairman William McChesney Martin going against the wishes of the Johnson administration.

So-called "bargain hunters" began picking up stock at the sharply reduced prices and the market recovered a good portion of its losses by the time the Monday session had ended with a turnover of 11.48 million shares, the fourth largest in the history of the New York Stock Exchange.

The vigorous rebound continued on Tuesday in a nine-million-share session and Monday's losses were more than wiped out.

Volume for the week was another historic record, totaling 48,331,742 shares compared with 45,330,625 the previous week. The latter topped a 36-year record made in mid-October.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks last week advanced 1.6 to 354.9, its second straight weekly rise. The Dow Jones industrial average rose 6.62 to 952.72.

The sudden plunge on Monday was right across the board — taking in blue chips as well as "cats-and-dogs." The recovery seemed to be as universal, in market terms.

All sectors of the bond market showed sharp price declines during the past week, reflecting the Federal Reserve Board's action last weekend authorizing a boost in interest rates.

The entire list of 40 Treasury bonds marked price declines ranging as high as a point or more.

On the New York Stock Exchange bond volume for the week totaled a par value of $74.44 million.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — After posting a succession of 17-year highs on four of the five days, butcher hog prices ran into a sudden reversal on Friday and prices broke as much as $2.50 a hundredweight, the sharpest decline in years.

The market had climbed from a high of $28.35 the previous Friday to $31 on Thursday, within $1 of the highest price ever paid in Chicago. The next day's supply was an unexpectedly large 7,500 head and demand became very slow.

The tops of $29 on Monday, $30 on Tuesday, $30.75 on Wednesday and $31 on Thursday were the highest since the summer of 1948.

The week's supply of 29,000 head was 1,000 more than the previous week and the net gain was 50 cents to $1 a hundredweight. The average price was estimated at $28.75 compared with $28.38 last week and $15.45 a year ago.

Prime grade slaughter steers topped at $28.75 on Friday, highest in more than a month. Net gain for the week was 25 to 75 cents, derived partly from an advance of $1 to $1.50 in wholesale prices for dressed beef.

The fifth consecutive week of stronger prices for woolled slaughter lambs was in the 50 to 75 cents range.

Cowboys Blast Hapless Cards In NFL, 27-13

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Don Meredith passed for three touchdowns and set up two field goals Saturday in leading the Dallas Cowboys to a 27-13 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The triumph kept Dallas in the race for second place in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League and a spot in the Miami Runner-up Bowl.

A crowd cut to 38,499 because of rain watched Meredith have one of his greatest days. He not only was sharp with his passing but ran on third down several times to get first downs and keep drives going.

The teams battled to a 13-13 tie at the half, then Dallas waited until the fourth period for the payoff touchdowns, both on passes from Meredith. One was to Dan Reeves for 23 yards and the other to Pettis Norman for three.

Charley Johnson helped St. Louis to its 13 points, six of them on a touchdown pass to Sonny Randle, but he suffered a shoulder separation in the third period and Buddy Humphry punted the Cardinals the rest of the way.

St. Louis got its first field goal when Frank Clark fumbled on the Dallas 32 and Dale Meiner ran it back 11 yards to the Dallas 17. Jim Bakke booted the field goal from the Dallas 10.

Dallas tied it up the next time it had the ball when Meredith's passing got the Cowboys to the St. Louis 24. Danny Villanueva kicked from the Cardinal 31.

St. Louis took the lead with Johnson passing seven yards to Randle after an 83-yard drive. Dallas tied it up in the second period on Meredith's 46-yard touchdown shot to Bob Hayes.

St. Louis went ahead again on Johnson's passing when he got to the Dallas 34 and Bakke kick a field goal from the Dallas 41. Then Dallas tied it up just before the half ended when Villanueva kicked a field goal from the Cardinal 14.

Officially, this book — filled with articles praising the Johnson administration — is sponsored by about 30 state committees on voter education. The money is to be used to spur registration and voting in next year's congressional elections, but Democratic officials have said the effort obviously will be aimed at backing President Johnson's programs.

The Republican Committee spokesman said he doesn't think the corporations will boggle at paying ads in two such publications.

"I'm sure a large number of companies will want to do the same for us as they did for them (the Democrats)," he said.

Gemini 7

disciplined LASER light can carry voice communications as a radio wave does.

The light beam spreads less than a mile in its precise dash to earth.

Meanwhile, at Cape Kennedy, Fla., flight experts said the countdowns were going so well with the Gemini 6 hunter spacecraft they could have launched it Saturday if they had wanted to.

Gemini 6 will blast off in pursuit of Gemini 7 Sunday — chasing its target through 103,000 miles of sky and flying in formation with it — the first formation flight in space history.

On the successful Hawaii pass, at 2:15 p.m., Lovell noted he had some difficulty picking out the greenish light of the LASER beamed up from earth because his sighting device has a green filter. The only certain way to run the experiment, Lovell said, was to do it at night.

Church Service
A tape recorded church service will be beamed up to the astronauts Sunday morning.

Flight Plans

space, with Gemini 6 about 3,000 feet behind.

At five hours 39 minutes into the flight, over Sumatra in the Indian Ocean, Schirra executes a braking maneuver, slowing his speed by 29 miles an hour so the relative difference in the speed of the two ships is only about three miles an hour. Seconds later, he makes fine adjustments to match the speed of Gemini 7 and the rendezvous starts with the two craft about 100 feet apart.

Whether the two initially fly side by side or one in front of the other will be left to Schirra's judgment. Schirra will approach as near as he feels is safe after assessing the situation. He conceivably could move within inches of Gemini 7.

Fifteen minutes after the start of rendezvous, Gemini 6 turns around so the two ships face nose to nose. Then Schirra starts a fly-around maneuver, slowly circling Borman and Lovell with his nose pointed directly at them. During this 30-minute exercise, Schirra and Stafford observe Gemini 7 and the astronaut teams take pictures of each other.

The rendezvous is to continue for about six hours, with the two craft practicing maneuvers — going away from each other and coming back, flying various formations and the like. Most of the maneuvering is done by Gemini 6, which has the greater supply of fuel.

After 11 hours 58 minutes of flight, Gemini 6 fires thrusters to separate the two by about 55 miles and both astronaut teams go to sleep.

If all goes well, Schirra and Stafford return to earth after 23 hours in space. Gemini 7 continues on toward its 14-day goal and a Saturday landing.

The 15-minute Episcopal communion service was taped in Chicago and flown to Houston.

The mission whipped past the midpoint of its 14-day in space at 11:15 a.m. EST.

At about that time, the astronauts' families visited mission control as the Gemini 7 flew across the United States. "I'd also like to tell you the Borman boys are here," said communicator Elliot See.

"Hi, boys," replied the radioed voice of their father.

Arthur (Jay) Lovell, 11, got a chance to sit with flight director Chris Kraft at the control console after Gemini 7 was out of range — the first time a member of an astronaut's family has been admitted to that inner sanctum since the flight began. They watch usually from a glassed-in room at the rear.

The astronauts weathered a tumbling, cold night in space, reported they got about five or six hours sleep — "not too good." The temperature in the cabin dropped 20 degrees through the night.

Then, during the day, they tinkered with their electricity-producing fuel cells, trying to perk up a sluggish cell — a minor problem.

"We didn't know we were tumbling until we woke up," Borman said. The tumbling apparently was linked to the temperature drop, caused by steam venting from a part of the cooling system. The slightest push in space can affect the spacecraft's motion. Later the venting stopped or at least dwindled and the temperature stabilized.

Gemini 7 passed the flight's midpoint at 11:15 a.m. EST. Gemini 6 pilots—Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford —reviewed flight plans again for their difficult and complex space chase. The formation flight is a vital maneuver in U.S. efforts to reach the moon.

They thunder into space at 9:54 a.m. EST Sunday, as Gemini 7 hurtles past Cape Kennedy, Fla., on its eighth day in space —its spacecraft clock ticking off records with every passing second. Among the records:

1:48 a.m. EST Sunday—Total U.S. time in space reaches 1,000 man-hours. The Soviet Union has 507 hours, 16 minutes.

1:26 p.m. EST Sunday—A new world endurance mark, breaking the 190-hour, 56-minute record set by Gemini 5 pilots L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. in August.

The light beam experiment—beaming signals up to the spacecraft with the astronauts beaming signals back—would produce another space first when it succeeds.

The light beams are LASER light—such disciplined light rays that all travel straight and parallel to each other.

Peace Hopes

The United States has never made the Rusk message public and press officer Robert J. McCloskey said that even now the State Department has no intention of publishing it. He did not question the accuracy of the North Vietnamese version.

Other officials note that Rusk has covered all diplomatic contacts involving the North Vietnamese in secrecy wherever possible.

U.S. diplomats feel that Han-oi's publication of the Rusk note shows a hardening attitude on the part of the North Vietnamese toward any kind of peace talks.

A new U.S. search for a peaceful settlement was mentioned by Johnson in a speech from Austin, Tex., Thursday to the AFL-CIO convention in San Francisco. He said the United States would exhaust every prospect for peace in Viet Nam "before other hard steps are taken." He did not mention what steps he had in mind.

Clan Grapplers Top Knox Tourney Field

GALESBURG — An outstanding achievement in Illinois wrestling history was the only way to describe the MacMurray grappler's performance in the fifth annual Knox College Invitational, as the Clansmen amassed a record total of 120 points in the two-day meet to out-point the 15-team field by 30 points.

Compiling an individual record of 33-6, including victories via pins in 14 matches, the Clan placed nine men into the 11 final brackets, coming home with four firsts, four seconds, and one tie.

John Cronlund (115), John Smith (123), Paul Nelson (152), and Pete Brann (177) captured top honors in the competition, while Ray Jast (130), Tom Knight (145), Gary Henning (160), and Wayne Shurter (191) garnered second place slots. Heavyweight Bob Kellogg tied.

Freshman Ron Otto, who lost to the eventual winner in the 137 pound category by a 1-0 tally, gained a third, pinning Jack Saltz of Illinois College in 3:08. Saltz, the highest finisher for IC, placed fourth.

In the finals competition, Cronlund got the Highlander's winning effort under way with a slim 5-4 decision over John Burke of Carthage, while high school All-American John Smith kept things going with a 4-0 mopping over Leaman of Wheaton.

The breaks went against the Clansmen in the 130 finale, however, as Ray Jast lost on a pin at 5:02 after leading 5-2 in the match. Tom Knight then lost a 5-0 decision to Loras' senior captain Tom Weivel, before Nelson gained the win of the day for the Clan.

Facing '64 Illinois state champion Jim Gustafson, Nelson finally gained a rematch in the event, as the two men had previously faced each other in high school competition during the 1964 high school season. In that year, Gustafson was 33-0-1, with his only blemish coming at the hands of Nelson.

In the closest and most enthusiastic match of the afternoon, Nelson grabbed his long awaited encounter, dropping the Wheaton contender 4-3 in overtime.

Brann captured the local's final win of the tournament, edging past Don Driver of Dubuque by 2-1.

Individual winners:

115 — Cronlund (M) d. Burke (Car), 5-4
123 — Smith (M) d. Leaman (W), 4-0

Ashe Dumps Aussie Star

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Arthur Ashe sent Australian tennis prestige tumbling to its lowest depths in years Saturday when he came from behind to beat top-ranked Roy Emerson 7-9, 7-5, 6-0, 6-4 for the South Australian championship.

It was Ashe's third victory over the two-time Wimbledon winner, rated the world's best amateur, and the second Australian tournament title for the Negro U.S. Davis Cup ace from Richmond, Va. Little Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., made it an all-America day in this humid state capital when she trounced Lesley Turner of Australia 8-6, 6-2 for the women's singles crown.

By BUFORD GREEN Sports Editor AREA PREP LOOPS MAY BE CHANGING

Porta's announcement last week that its teams would not participate in the PMSC conference next year is about the only definite step that has been taken by several area schools concerning numerous rumored conference shake-ups for next year.

As most area prep conferences have their next business meetings slated for sometime shortly after the first of the year, very little is known for sure at this time just what the lineups will be for next year.

If only about half of the reports, all unofficial, received by this department are in the making, area prep loops for next year, or the year after, may have something of a different shape.

With Porta's dropping out of PMSC competition, in a drive to match up with larger schools, comes rumors that possibly Waverly and possibly Palmyra Northwestern would seek to fill that open spot in the Pike-Morgan-Scott-Cass conference. Both are members of the MSM conference, a ten-team loop that also takes in Auburn, Morrisonville, Girard, Virden, Pawnee, Franklin, Kincaid and Divernon.

Porta's stated goal is to get in the MSM, a move it feels would place it with schools more its size. But, at the same time, comes the report that three of the major schools in the MSM, Auburn, Girard and Virden, are seeking to leave the MSM and get in the South Central conference, in time for the 1967 football season. The South Central is currently looking to enlarge its league, because Springfield Feitshans is leaving the league after the 1966-67 school year.

The South Central wrote to these three schools, along with two others, including Northwestern, last fall. The South Central will meet next week to decide on the matter.

Current members of the South Central are Feitshans, Carlinville, Nokomis, Mt. Olive, Gillespie and Staunton. Porta athletic director Dick Clark stated that if those three schools left the MSM, Porta would probably go independent. It's not sure just what the MSM would do if the three schools did drop out. In such a case the only football-playing schools left in the MSM would be Kincaid, Waverly, Pawnee and Northwestern.

Getting back to the PMSC, the conference is currently made up of nine basketball schools, seven in football. They could still have a favorable number in both sports without Porta, but could still stand a replacement. Sounds confusing, and it is. But this is a necessary turn of events with today's growing schools and consolidations that change enrollments from year to year.

Shuman Reelection Expected At AFBF Meeting In Chicago

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's largest general farm organization — the American Farm Bureau Federation — opens its annual convention Monday to decide whether to continue its long but somewhat vain battle against government farm controls.

The five-day session at Chicago is expected to vote to keep fighting for what it calls a free agriculture even though Congress this year enacted a strong four-year stabilization program which the federation had opposed.

Furthermore, it is expected to re-elect as president a corn belt farmer who has come to be recognized as the No. 1 foe of federal intervention in agriculture — Charles B. Shuman.

President since December 1954, Shuman operates a farm near Sullivan, Ill.

Many Farm Bureau leaders believe that time is on their side — that the pendulum of events as well as of public opinion are swinging toward the philosophy that farmers should be given more freedom in determining their production and marketing patterns.

Costly Proposition
Shuman has said he does not believe this year's new four-year farm legislation will be used that long. He says the costs, now estimated at around $3 billion a year, will become greater than taxpayers will tolerate.

There is a possibility that the world food situation may help the Farm Bureau in gaining its goal of a smaller government role in farming.

Even now, there are economists and many leaders in government, industry, world politics, as well as farmers, who believe this country should begin to ease restrictions so food demands of an exploding world population can be met.

The Farm Bureau has received unexpected support from the president of a rival farm organization which over the years has been in the forefront of supporters for strong federal farm programs. He is James G.

Patton, who announced recently that he will retire in March from the presidency of the Farmers' Union.

"Day Is Coming"
Patton told newsmen the day is coming, and perhaps soon, when the big farm programs will end.

Many leaders believe that the battle in agriculture in the years immediately ahead will revolve not around government farm controls, but over the role the government should assume in an expanded movement of food abroad.

The big issue most likely would become this: Should the government take over the management of the purchase and movement of American food abroad?

Or should the government withdraw from the so-called free market system taking over under normal commercial arrangements?

In such case, government help would be limited to the supplying of supplementary funds to help needy countries abroad buy American supplies.

The Farm Bureau would favor this approach and it is expected to say so in resolutions at the Chicago meeting.

Attending farmers also are expected to debate, but reject for the time being, a proposal of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation that the big farm organization acquire a nationwide food chain to help strengthen its bargaining power in the sale of farm products.

Advise Keeping Records For IRS 6 Years Or More

URBANA — How long must you keep farm records to meet Internal Revenue Service demands?

University of Illinois farm management specialist Fay M. Sims says that you should keep records of land purchases, building costs and other capital assets as long as you own the asset. Usually your depreciation schedule contains most of this information, so it also should be kept.

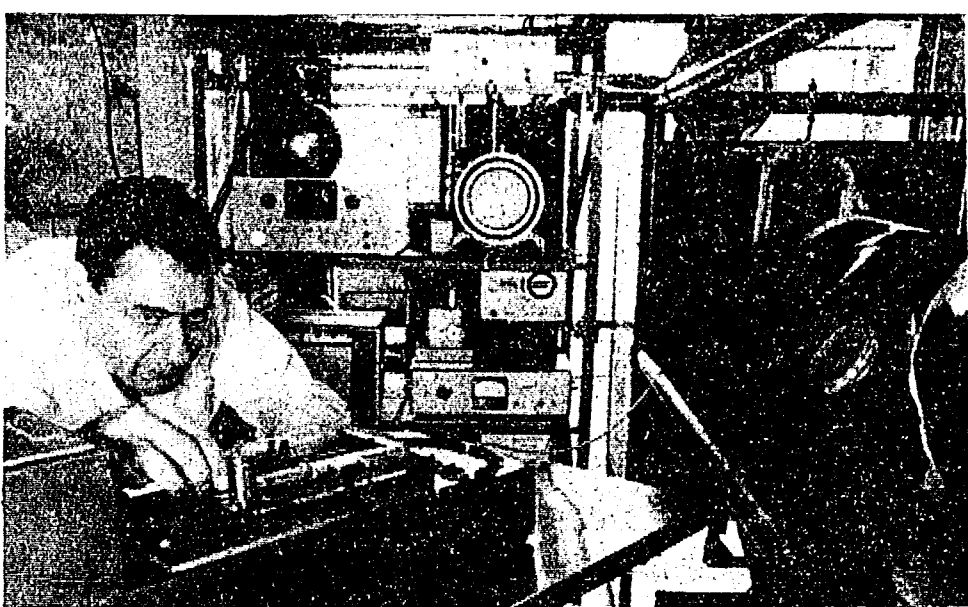

Records of ordinary receipts and expenses should be kept for at least six years. An assessment, which would follow an audit, against a taxpayer for tax due must ordinarily be made within three years after the filing date. But in certain cases assessments for tax due must be made within six years after the filing date. Therefore, six years is usually long enough to keep records other than depreciation records and those having to do with capital assets.

There are certain exceptions to the rule, Sims notes. In case of fraud, intent to evade tax or failure to file, the statute of limitations does not apply, and the audit and assessment may be made at any time.

U.I. DAIRY RESEARCHERS have a new machine — a respiration pattern analyzer — which they feel may hold the key to more efficient dairy rations in the future. Dick Brown is shown above using the machine to inject nutrients carrying radio-active isotopes directly into the cow's blood stream. The cow's head is enclosed in a glass fronted box which contains the air she breathes. Researchers watch the instruments in the background to analyze respiration products the cow exhales. Brown says cows chew their cud during each test and apparently are undisturbed by the apparatus.

BRIMFUL Farm Bureau, Co-ops To Meet Saturday

By Jim Brim

During this winter and early spring you are going to be exposed to many seed advertisements, both printed and presented orally. We have some good requirements regarding the labeling of seed but little has been done about advertising. Hybrid seed corn dealers are mostly reputable. Their product has been responsible in large part for our corn yield increases.

But we still hear great claims for some particular variety of soybeans, wheat, oats, alfalfa, etc. Before you pay a high price for new seed you haven't heard about before check up on it or the person handling it. Your farm adviser can help you in this regard. Don't change to new seed varieties just because they are new. Be sure the varieties you buy have been tried in our area and that they were successful.

Read the label on the bag or at least learn what the label says before you buy. Seed labels should include the percentage of pure seed, germination, other crop seeds, inert matter, weed seeds, name of the kind and variety of pure seeds and the name and numbers per ounce of noxious weed seeds. Many noxious weeds are illegal but not in all states.

Hard seeds are found in most legumes and they will not absorb moisture. Some will germinate readily in soil, alfalfa will. Others may not germinate for months. So they are objectionable if prompt germination is desired.

Even if you intend to use your own seed be sure you allow time to have it cleaned before you plant.

Now You Should
..... Saw logs.
..... Check livestock registrations. Register young breeding animals.
..... Ask Mom to bake a fruit cake.
..... Go to farm sales.
..... Butcher.
..... Watch cattle closely.
..... The eye of the Master fattens the calf.
..... Check moisture in stored corn.

If Mom and the kids don't know what to get Pop for Christmas he will always appreciate tools. Maybe Pop would cut out some pictures to show what he would like. Some ladies are quite unsure of what to buy along this line.

Where is the price of hogs going? A rise at this time of year is unusual. There aren't many hogs ready to go either. Don't jump in and breed a lot of sows or keep a lot of extra gilts. A great increase in hog numbers could lead to the extremely low prices of a few years ago.

Have you considered your New Year's resolutions? Before you make any new ones check on what happened to last year's.

BERSERK CAT ATTACKS CHILD

JERSEYVILLE — A cat at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Goetten of Fielden went berserk and attacked their young son Rodney, Saturday afternoon. The animal used its claws to give the child an extensive bit of scratching.

Sunday, the cat became seriously ill, and in spite of the nine life cycle attributed to felines, died.

The body of the cat was brought to the local animal hospital of VanWalleghen and Gast where it was removed and taken to the Illinois State Laboratory at East St. Louis for a rabies test.

The office of Sheriff Paul Miller received a report Tuesday afternoon to the effect that the head of the cat showed no indication of rabies in the initial tests.

It is estimated that 2½ pounds of wood have the same heating value as one pound of coal.

Meat For Xmas Certificates Selling Well

For some reason, perhaps because current prices of meat are getting into almost the luxury class, "MEAT FOR CHRISTMAS" gift certificate sales are running ahead of expectations say members of the Farm Bureau Young People's committee, sponsors of the campaign in Morgan county.

Sales are running far ahead of last year, but this is probably due to the enlargement and simplification of the certificate. In prior years the gift certificate was accepted only at pre-arranged stores and supermarkets. This year the committee has opened an account at the Farmers State bank and the checks are good at the recipient favorite store. Some certificates purchased so far this month have been sent to relatives and friends in New York and Florida.

It seems that the average size of the gift is around $7, but they have run from $1 up to $30. They may be purchased from now until Christmas at the Farm Bureau office.

This year the certificates will be used as "Early Bird" and door prizes at the annual meeting of the Morgan County Farm Bureau and Service Co., which will be held Saturday at MacMurray College.

10 From Morgan Attend NFO Convention

Ten delegates represented Morgan county at the annual meeting of the National Farm Organization held at St. Louis Dec. 1-2. A record-breaking 10,000 voting delegates from 25 counties attended the convention.

In commenting upon the accomplishments of the organization during the past year LeRoy Hamman, co-chairman for Morgan county, said "The convention unveiled proof that NFO marketing arrangements have netted an advantage of member farmers over and above the market improvement everywhere. NFO bargaining has accounted for $4 per cwt. of the price rise in hogs and $2 per cwt. of the price rise in cattle. We predict NFO programs to yield similar results in grain and dairy."

Oren Lee Staley was elected national president for the 11th consecutive year.

Those attending from Morgan county included Hamman, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Lindell DeLong, Bernard Fromme, Fred Heitbrink, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kramp, Mr. and Mrs. John Rhodes, Edgar Robinson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Loren Rhea, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Stenemeyer and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Thornley.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

DROPPING OF PRODUCTION CONTROL DOUBTFUL

We hear and read some reports that our national farm policies will soon do an about-face. It is said that production controls will be scrapped and that farmers will be urged to produce at full capacity to feed the hungry people of the world.

A program of full production would be in keeping with our religious heritage. It would be popular with farmers, with the producers of farm supplies and with those who process and distribute farm products. It would be welcomed by the people whose stomachs are cramped with hunger.

Such a change in our national policy may be imminent—but we doubt it. There are many reasons for this doubt:

1. No one person or small group in the United States can decide to feed the world's hungry. Congress could adopt such a policy, but it is not likely to do so. The cost would probably run from 10 to 15 billion dollars a year. Congress would be very reluctant to appropriate such sums each year, especially since most of the food would go to Communist or near-Communist countries that are not friendly to our government.

2. We are not free to send food to the hungry people in other countries. The rulers of each country determine how much and what kind of food is brought in.

3. Most of the people in the hungry countries are farmers. They would object to large imports of food that would depress prices of their own products. Remember the reactions of our farmers when meat imports reached 6 per cent of our supply a couple of years ago? The rulers of the hungry countries do not want a similar uprising to add to their already numerous problems.

4. The nations that have the greatest needs for food do not have either the facilities or the organizations that would be needed to distribute large amounts of imported food.

5. Most countries do not want to become more dependent upon outside supplies. Instead of buying more cheap food from the United States, the relatively wealthy countries of Europe subsidize their farmers to stimulate production. They don't want to run the risk of great food shortages such as occurred during World Wars I and II.

The Communist countries have no desire to become dependent for food upon their avowed enemy, the United States. They fear that we would cut off their food supply in order to force compliance with our wishes. Even if some Communist countries decided to stand in our breadline, most of them would choose to maintain their independence.

It has been suggested that these objections might be eliminated by sending the food through the United Nations or some other international organization. But such an arrangement would not change any of the basic obstacles to using our surplus capacity to feed the hungry peoples of our planet. Thus we doubt that there will be any sudden dropping of the restrictions on agricultural production.

Storm, Ice Damage Often Fatal To Fine, Valuable Shade Trees

Each year ice and wind cause damage to shade trees amounting to millions of dollars. Yet little is done to prevent such damage, possibly because few people realize the true value of a shade tree.

But the National Arborist Association places the value of a 20-inch white oak in perfect condition at $1,570.

"So it's a sound investment to properly care for such trees," J. B. Gartner, head of the University of Illinois division of floriculture and ornamental horticulture, told maintenance superintendents attending the 6th annual Turf Conference last week.

"A sudden storm can cause damage costing more than a good routine maintenance program. Storm damage can be reduced considerably with proper care," Gartner continued.

He outlined a program that included selecting proper species, proper pruning and fertilizing, cabling and bracing, preventing lightning damage and caring for trees injured by ice and winds.

Selection. Brittle trees, such as silver maple, linden and elm, will snap, crack or break easily, while oak, hard maple and beech are strong and can resist storm damage. A continuous replanting program, using strong species, eventually will weed out weak trees without leaving voids in the landscape.

Pruning. Proper pruning will eliminate dead, weak and diseased wood that is susceptible to storm damage and will help to prevent the formation of weak crotches. After proper pruning, the remaining branches will become stronger and will withstand more adverse conditions.

Fertilization. Healthy trees produce strong branches. Proper fertilization will help to produce a healthy tree. Trees should be fed at least every two years. A recommended rate is one pound of actual nitrogen per inch of trunk diameter for trees six inches and larger and half of this rate for trees less than six inches in diameter.

Cabling and bracing. In areas of frequent high winds or ice storms, it will pay to cable and brace the more valuable trees. This process is highly specialized and for best results should be left to specialists. Cabling and bracing are essential in protecting weakened, decayed split or storm-damaged crotches. Proper treatment will strengthen weakened branches and prevent future damage.

Edward Foreman

Edward V. Foreman, who was born in Jacksonville and educated in local schools, is presently teaching music privately in Champaign while studying with William Miller of the University of Illinois. A graduate of Illinois College and the University of Colorado, he has performed frequently in Jacksonville. He has studied under Joseph Cleeland; Martial Singher, Curtis Institute of Music, Philadelphia; Leslie Chabay, Washington University; and Akse Schlotz, University of Colorado.

Three groups will combine Wednesday for the Messiah presentation: the Jacksonville Community Chorus, the Illinois College Choir, and members of the Jacksonville Symphony Orchestra. Rehearsals have been held since last month at the College and at Grace Methodist Church, with Dr. Charles Fisher training the community singers.

For many years such a presentation had become a community Christmas musical tradition, most notably under the direction of Mrs. Helen Brown Reed, who passed away April 25, 1950. The Messiah oratorio has been sung in Jacksonville during the Christmas season several times since then.

From the Jacksonville Journal: RECEPTION AND DINNER - The colored citizens of Jacksonville gave a grand reception and dinner, on Thursday last, to the returned colored soldiers, numbering thirty or forty. The reception was held at the Methodist church, with a fine program of speaking, and the dinner was in the basement of the Baptist Church, which was furnished with all the luxuries of the season.

MARRIED - At "Grove Home," residence of the Bride's Father, Dec. 7th, by the Rev. D. H. Daulton, D. D., Major Carlos C. Cox of Greenfield, late of the 14th Reg. Ills. Vols., to Miss Lydia M. Massey, of Jacksonville, Ill.

A SKATING PARK FOR JACKSONVILLE - It has been proposed by some of our enterprising young gentlemen, heartily seconded by our live and blooming young ladies, to fit up a skating park in the vicinity of Jacksonville. A meeting to consider this subject will be held in King's Hall, Friday evening of this week. All who feel themselves interested are requested to attend.

THE BUFFALO - Arrangements have been made for the slaughtering of the Buffalo generously donated by Dr. McFarland on the 4th of July last. The meat will be sold and the proceeds will be distributed among the widows and orphans of deceased soldiers in Jacksonville. A choice slice of the Buffalo beef will be sent to Gen. Grant as a Christmas present, which the General has consented to accept.

This young buffalo attracted a lot of attention a hundred years ago. It was bought in Nebraska by Dr. Andrew McFarland, superintendent of the state hospital then known as the Central Insane Asylum. While in Nebraska he also contracted some Pawnee Indians to come to Jacksonville on the Fourth of July. The idea was that the Indians would stage a buffalo hunt with bow and arrow.

The idea went over fine and there was a massive turnout at the county fairgrounds on the 4th. Some guesses about the size of the crowd went as high as 20,000. But the buffalo hunt didn't come off. Some wise guys sneaked in a demijohn of whiskey to the Indians and when it came time for the buffalo hunt the Indians couldn't even find their ponies, much less shoot a buffalo.

The good Dr. fumed for a while and then laughed and took his buffalo home where it grazed contentedly in the pasture at the north end of the hospital grounds. Many people went to see him.

From the Jacksonville Sentinel: The Buffalo Secessia, "hunted" on the fair grounds in Jacksonville on the 4th of July last, and generously contributed by Dr. McFarland of the Insane Hospital, to the widows and soldiers of Morgan County, will be slaughtered by R. & E. Lambert on the 20th of December, and on exhibition and sale at their market from the 21st to the 25th, the proceeds to be equitably distributed among the parties to whom the donation has been made. Choice cuts 50 cents per lb. A choice cut will be sent to Gen. Grant as a Christmas present. The animal is young and in excellent condition and will furnish a choice and rare Christmas luxury. Messrs. R. & E. Lambert have this day opened a book by which persons here or from a distance can secure such parts as desired, personally, or by letter addressed to them, or Wm. C. Woodman, Jacksonville, Ill.

EVERY FARMER SHOULD SEE IT - A new patent corn sheller at Pratt & Eldridge's, east side of the public square. (ADV.)

From The Carrollton Gazette: RIVERS BLOCKED - The few days of cold weather during the past week has stopped navigation of the rivers. Indeed, we are informed, that the boats have been blocked in just wherever they happened to be when the cold snap set in. The steamer Lacon has gone into winter quarters at the mouth of Apple Creek.

HOLIDAYS - As has been our custom during the twenty years publication of the Gazette, no paper will be issued on the week of the holidays.

WATCH OUT - Passing counterfeit treasury notes is becoming very generally complained of in this quarter. We advise our readers to keep a sharp watch out.

ADOPTED, SIGNED LATER - The Declaration of Independence was not signed on July 4th. It was adopted on that date, but the first signature did not appear on the document until Aug. 2, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

We have later news of the Collins overland telegraph expedition. It appears that about fifty men have been scattered in detached parties along the American and Asiatic coasts, who will spend the winter in surveying routes. Next summer, it is hoped, this work will be so far completed that several thousand natives can be employed in planting posts.

Marriage Changes Man
Back To Natural Self

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) - Nothing changes a man more than marriage. He is never the same again.

Ask any wife. She keeps wondering all her life whatever happened to that sweet gallant boy who led her to the altar and murmured "I do."

For example: When he was courting her he loved to shower her with flowers. Now the only flowers she gets are the dandelions she digs out of the front yard lawn.

Once nothing was too good for her. Now anything she wants costs too much.

After the wedding ceremony he picked her up and carried her lightly across the threshold. Now he is too weak to bring in the Sunday newspaper unaided.

She remembers the candlelit restaurant where he leaned across the table and proposed to her. All he can recall is the price of the steak she ordered.

Before marriage she gaily cried, "After all, two can live as cheap as one!" After marriage, the miser tries to make her prove it.

There was a time when he told her he would go to the ends of the earth for her. Now he whines if she asks him to step across the street to the supermarket and pick up a carton of milk.

Before marriage he praised her lovely curls. Now he grunts, "What the devil have you done to your hair this time?"

Remember when he would sit in the front porch swing with you half the night watching a full moon? Now he is snoring on the sofa by 9 p.m.

Once he liked to romp with her through the snow. Now, when they are caught in the rain, he holds the umbrella over himself.

Before marriage he looked like a Greek god. After marriage he begins to look like a middle-aged, heavyweight Bulgarian wrestler.

On the honeymoon he brought her breakfast in bed. Now, when the alarm clock rings, he says, "For Pete's sake, are you going to lie there all day? Get up and burn me some toast. I'm hungry."

Before marriage he told her he loved children. After marriage he tells her, "You punish them - they're yours."

He used to send her mad exotic gifts at Christmas - such as a magnum of perfume. Now he says, "After all, I'm not Santa Claus!" - and he buys her a vacuum cleaner on the installment plan.

There was a time when he'd run halfway down the block to meet her. Now, if she shows up five minutes late, he grumbles,

"Can't you ever get anywhere on time?"

Then he was romantic, now he is rheumatic.

What really did happen to change him so much? Nothing. He just got married - and started acting normally.

Pope Paul Can Now Emerge From Shadow

By JAMES M. LONG
VATICAN CITY (AP) — With the end of the Vatican Ecumenical Council, Pope Paul VI comes into his own.

Large as he has loomed at the head of the Roman Catholic Church, he has stood up to now in the broad shadow of his predecessor, John XXIII.

Into the third year of his reign, Pope Paul's greatest dedication has been to fulfill his pledge to successfully conclude the Ecumenical Council that Pope John convened eight months before his death, June 3, 1963.

Sources close to the pontiff, 68, have predicted that now that this duty has been fulfilled, Pope Paul's own character will emerge. It is expected to be dramatic.

His actions up to now have given indication that he may and probably will:

— Enter as mediator for peace in war-threatened areas of the world.

— Drive vigorously for eventual Christian unity, even though its achievement is unlikely within his lifetime.

— Make major new pronouncements on birth control.

— Visit Communist Poland and yet stand firm in his denunciation of communism.

Certainly, the informants say, he will continue to travel. He already has made unprecedented trips so far to the Holy Land; Bombay, India, and New York.

John Cardinal Heenan of Britain said the council was ending that Pope Paul had "refused to put his own imprint on the council which was begun by Pope John. But Paul now has begun to emerge as a pontiff with his own characteristics."

All this will have to be done while Pope Paul fulfills another solemn pledge — that he will put into effect the program for Church renovation approved by the 2,300 prelates in the Ecumenical Council.

He must re-form the centuries-old Curia, the Rome-based administrative body of the Church. He must spread authority out through the synd of bishops which he created.

He also must arbitrate between the Church's conservative and progressive factions.

He also has said he plans to enlarge the Sacred College of Cardinals. He increased it last February to an unprecedented 103. There have been reports he might name as many as 150.

Griffith Retains Title On Decision

NEW YORK (AP) — Champion Emile Griffith chased backpedalling Manny Gonzalez for 15 dreary rounds and whipped the elusive challenger with the greatest of ease on a unanimous decision in a welterweight title fight Friday night.

Griffith never could catch up with the runaway from Odessa, Tex., who chose to stick and move away while the champion pursued him.

Gonzalez was pushed down in the fifth after he had landed one of his few solid punches, a right to the jaw. It was no knock-down.

A crowd of 12,146 paid $72,502 to see the uneven contest at Madison Square Garden and hoisted the two fighters through the final rounds.

Gonzalez, 146, had beaten Griffith, 146, in a Jan. 26 non-title 10-rounder in Houston.

The champion, born in the Virgin Islands but now a resident of New York, landed the heavier punches and even out-jabbed the Texan who flicked and ran all night long.

Judge Tony Rossi saw it 12-3, judge Al Berl 11-3-1 and referee Arthur Mercante 9-5-1 all for Griffith. The AP didn't give Gonzalez a round.

The real drama of the evening came before the main event when Sugar Ray Robinson received an affectionate farewell ovation in the ring.

Such former middleweight champions as Carmen Basilio, Gene Fullmer, Bobo Olson and Randy Turpin appeared in ring tols to say their so longs to the retiring, 45-year-old Robinson.

Four defendants were admitted to a year's probation each by Magistrate Paul Fenstermaker Friday morning.

Terms of the probation include restitution of articles taken from the Drexel Nov. 12, six Saturdays on the county work detail and payment of court costs.

The four who appeared for the probation hearing after entering pleas of guilty earlier were: Gary L. DeFrates, 21, of 883 N. Prairie; Earl Jerome Day, 19, of 1416 Hardin; Larry Walter Massey, 18, of Route 5; and Michael Anthony Reavy, 17, of 780 W. State.

A fifth person also involved in the theft was not charged due to his age. Underage defendants are charged with delinquency rather than the theft offense.

Probation Officer Robert Wallace presented the reports to the court and recommended probation on all four cases.

FIRE CAUSES HEAVY DAMAGE

A fire in a clothes dryer at the home of Irwin H. Grant, 6 Sunset Drive, caused several hundred dollars damage Friday morning.

Firemen were called to the home at 9:02 a.m. and extinguished the blaze with water cans.

The dryer was a total loss, as well as the contents. Smoke damage was also evident throughout the house.
